How much homework is expected?

If you are auditing the course you are not required to do homework and any homework that you complete will not be graded but beneficial for your learning experience.

What is the difference between taking courses for credit and auditing them?

If you take a course for credit there will be homework required and you will be issued a letter grade. You will also be able to apply these credits towards accredited Associates and Bachelors degrees from Calvary Chapel University. Taking courses for credit is HIGHLY recommended for those who are attending MBI as vocational training for pastors, ministry leaders, missionaries etc.

If you audit courses you are not required to do any homework, you will not be given a grade and you will not be able to apply the credits towards accredited Associates and Bachelors degrees from Calvary Chapel University or Arizona Christian University. Auditing a course benefits your own spiritual life development without the pressure of being graded. Auditing courses is recommended for those who are simply seeking to enrich their spiritual life.
